FROM WASHINGTON.

Disposition of the New Tenth Regiment—Movements of the First Cavalry—Interesting Evidence Taken from the Sioux at the Battle of Blue-water—Cause of the Removal of Colonel Hammond—The Collectorship of San Francisco—War Rumor.

Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 5, 1855.

The new Tenth Regiment of Infantry, Col. ALEXANDER, has been ordered to posts on the Upper Mississippi. The Regiment will quarter at Fort Snelling, near St. Paul's, and Fort Crawford, near Prairie du Chien for the Winter, in anticipation probably of operations against the Indians next Spring. The first battalion will move at the beginning of next week.

The first cavalry moved from Fort Leavenworth on the 25th ult., for the Sioux Country, to take part in the present operations against the hostile savages of that region.

The War Department had received a package of the papers taken from the Sioux at the recent battle of the Blue-water. Among them is a Postmaster's blank—evidently taken from some one of the mail agents, whom they have robbed and murdered—and is covered with Indian hieroglyphics, apparently intended to detail some of the bloody deeds of the tribe. The massacre of Lieutenant GRATTAN and his party, is evidently one of the subjects of this symbolic history. It is also believed to describe the murder of an emigrating party, composed in part of women.

Among the articles captured were two scalps of white women; a small memorandum book in which some neat penman had noted the incidents of an overland journey; a letter from B. W. LEONARD, dated Vernon, July 6, 1855, doubtless taken from a captured mail; several rather good sketches of Indians fighting, and a portion of the clothing which had belonged to the soldiers of GRATTAN's party. There can be no doubt that the Indians from whom these things were taken are the same who massacred GRATTAN and his command.

Collector HAMMOND, of San Francisco, was removed for having violated Secretary GUTHRIE's instructions in regard to the disbursements of money in his hands.

It seems to be generally believed that Hon. MILTON S. LATHAM will decline the Collectorship of San Francisco, in which event it is believed Col. R. T. WASHINGTON, late Editor of the Times and Transcript of that city will be appointed to the vacancy.

It is rumored in the foreign diplomatic circles here, that the Russians have proposed to evacuate the Crimea, provided they are permitted to do so with all the honors of war. S.

The President has appointed JAMES M. LOVE Judge of the District Court of the United States, in Iowa, and JESSE PEIRCE, Jr., of Portland, Me., Secretary of Legation at St. Petersburg.

Attack upon a Democratic Procession in Baltimore—One Man Killed.

BALTIMORE, Friday, Oct. 5.

Whilst the Democrats of the Eighteenth Ward were returning from a mass meeting last night, several pistol shots were fired at them when passing the corner of Pine and Baltimore streets, in the extreme western part of the City, by certain parties said to belong to the Know-Nothing organization. A young man, named THOMAS RUBEN, in the procession, was shot in the head, and died shortly afterwards. THOMAS DAVIS has been arrested, charged with the murder. The affair creates some excitement.

The affair, it appears, had its origin in an old feud existing between the adherents of rival fire companies belonging to political clubs.

Political excitement is running very high here. Torch-light processions and mass meetings nightly take place.

To-night the Americans are holding a meeting.

Mass American Meeting in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, Oct. 5.

The American meeting held in Independence-square to-night, is believed to be the largest ever held there. Delegations from every quarter of the city attended it, marching in procession, accompanied with banners, music, &c. THOMAS J. PERKINS presided. Speeches were made from three stands.

An address, setting forth the claims of the party, and asking the support of all conservative and patriotic voters, was read and adopted by acclamation.

Speeches followed by LEWIS C. LEVIN and WM. F. SMALL, but they failed to be heard, as the crowd was so immense and the interruptions so constant from fresh delegations entering the square.

The proceedings ended by a splendid piece of fireworks, with the motto, "Our own, our native land."

Respite of a Murderer.

BOSTON, Friday, Oct. 5.

The execution of JAMES WELSON, for the murder of a colored man in the State Prison, was to take place in this city to-day, but, about time before the hour set for execution, and after the scaffold had been erected, the Governor and Council, who had been specially called together to consider the petition of certain physicians of this city for time to show that the accused was insane at the time he committed the deed, granted a reprieve for sixty days.

Fire at New-Brighton, Penn.

BUFFALO, Friday, Oct. 5.

The Merrick House, at New-Brighton, Penn., was burned down this morning. No particulars have yet been received.

☞ At the examination held before the General Term of the Supreme Court, at Newburgh, on Tuesday last, the following young gentlemen were admitted to the bar: Francis A. DeWint, William P. Clark, John Wilton Lee, Andrew J. Provost, Charles B. Gronwoldt, James V. Kenney, John Miller, Clinton Gurnee, Jr., Henry C. Pitts, Nathaniel B. Smith.

HEAVY FALL OF WHEAT.—The Richmond Enquirer states that on Tuesday morning week, the fifth floor of the large seven-story warehouse near the four mills of the Messrs. HAZALL, on James River, in that city, gave way under the weight of wheat which had been stored therein, carrying with it the roof and floors, all loaded with wheat. As much precisely as 30,000 bushels of wheat fell, carrying a heavy mass of broken timbers, directly upon the water-wheels of the upper mill, crushing the machinery to atoms, and injuring two other wheels. The Messrs. HAZALL lose from $10,000 to $30,000 by this catastrophe.

Amusements.

A dull week at most of the Theatres. Two or three days of heavy rain play the dence with the players. If people cannot detect a few stars in the heavens before they start, they will not tramp through the damp air to soak them at the theatres. Those gorgeous "posters" with which managers build theatrical speculations on every vacant lot, are in vain. Even those remarkable little flags which stages affect are useless. The proprietor of fifty cents surplus capital—if there is such a being in the world, of which many philosophers and several poets have expressed a doubt—put upon his pocket, and goes into the parlor to hear WALLACE's last waltz played on the piano in a weeping and incoherent manner. At least we suppose so, for it is decidedly more sensible than getting a cold in the head by way of amusement. It is on these solemn occasions of great rain that the critic experiences the utter desolation of all earthly purposes. Accompanied by the politeness of managers to stand in the very worst place, he finds himself now with several seats to sit down upon—like SHAKSPEARE, "monarch of all he surveys." Perhaps he takes a couple of benches, one for himself and another for his hat. If he is accustomed to magnificence he may even occupy a third by putting his programme on it. A beautiful tranquillity overspreads his countenance. He will enjoy a mighty performance in a large and comfortable way. Presently the musicians enter the orchestra; make a few jokes about the state of the house, and play out of tune in consideration of the few hardy individuals who have struggled through the rain. The curtain rises; the piece begins; homœopathic quantities of the author; allopathic doses of the actor. Everything is conversational and friendly. Mr. This makes a joke. Mr. That attempts a repartee, and Mr. So-and-So arrives at a grand climacteric by means of an oath. None of these little items are down in the text, but what matter, it's a wet night. If the critic happens to be known, all the actors scowl at him—for making it wet. It is a pleasing trait of the actor's character that when the house is full he attributes it to his own excellence, but when it is empty he lays it entirely to the critic's malignity. A shower of rain therefore quite refreshing after the stagnation of a theatre during a slow night.

The Academy of Music opened on Monday under the full influence of moisture. A few brave enthusiasts occupied some seats in the parquette and elsewhere, but the great house looked cold and steamy. On Wednesday it did not precisely rain, but it looked so much as if it meant to, that people were afraid to venture far in opera costume, and, consequently, missed a great treat—Mad. LA GRANGE's Linda, (which, by the way, she repeats to-night.) The opening week at the Academy has, therefore, been flat. In a week or two more some new singers will be here, and the rain will have a chance of freezing; both good for the Academy. The management here seems to be decidedly old fogyish, although liberal enough. What shrewd manager would have raised the prices on the strength of six operas, whilst there was such an opposition as RACHEL in the neighborhood? The mistake will, we believe, be rectified next week. Prices will be reduced, and the attractive opera of "La Somnambula" laid before an appreciative audience. There is every reason to hope that "Norma" will immediately precede or follow this.

Mr. BARROW's "Rip Van Winkle" has been played every night this week, and will be given to-night for the benefit of the sufferers by yellow fever in Norfolk. We have said all that is necessary to say about the work. If it does not run long enough to remunerate the manager, no other American opera will be produced in a hurry. But if it is eminently successful, there will be a chance for some other composer. At Mr. WALLACK'S we have had no novelty. Mr. BROUGHAM's comedy literally crams the house, and will, no doubt, run to its fiftieth night easily. Mr. BURTON fleets accurately in "Still Waters," and comes out to-night with a new piece called "Love and Treasure." Miss EMILY THORNE and Mr. RAYMOND make their first appearance in this play. At the Broadway, Mr. BOKER's tragedy has been the feature during the week, except on last night, when the "Lady of Lyons" was played for the benefit of Mr. E. L. DAVENPORT, and for the purpose of introducing Miss FANNY VINING as the heroine. The house, we are happy to say, was crowded—a proper testimonial to a deserving artist.

After all, the success is that of Mlle. RACHEL. The houses this lady continues to draw are truly marvelous. From many causes the audience of last evening was the finest of the week. VICTOR HUGO's "Angelo" is a play that displays more of Mlle. RACHEL's great artistic features than any other, and is eminently popular.

New Music.

We find on our table a NEW SONG by the eminent composer, WM. VINCENT WALLACE, Good night and Pleasant Dreams. It has already been introduced to the public by Madame STRAKOSCH, at the late concerts of Mlle. PARODI, and we recommend it as one of the most pleasing songs we have seen from this composer's pen. It will be not only a general but a lasting favorite.

Remembrance of Thee; a NEW SONG, by FRANCIS H. BROWN; a pleasing, brilliant, and effective parlor song.

Be not afraid, 'Tis I, by EDWIN FLOOD.

O, Thou Omnipotent, by WALLACE.

Passed away to Heaven, by WALLACE.

These songs form a collection called Songs for the Sabbath. They are excellent songs, in good taste and answer well the purpose designed.

How Sleep the Brave; trio for three female voices, by J. A. FOWLER—designed for the use of female academies; to be sung either by three voices, or in chorus.

There On, old Tree, thine Every Glance; trio, from the grand opera "Maritana;" by WM. V. WALLACE—decidedly one of the finest gems of this favorite opera. Our musical readers will be glad to know it may be had separate.

The La Grange Polka, by C. C. CONVERSE. On the cover of this piece is a very excellent likeness of the great prima donna. The music is in the ordinary polka style, though it has the merit of originality, and is pleasing. There is more than usual promise in some of Mr. CONVERSE's music, but his three last compositions, and they strike us nearly as musical setting harmoniously strung together, but without a proper sympathy. Careful study and a little more thought will correct this evil.

Recollections Melodies, by FRED. BRUNE.

No. 27. Shells on Move, de MEYERBEER; an arrangement for the piano-forte of the favorite melodies from this new opera.

24. Choice Melodies, by L. DRESSER; originally composed for flute and piano, newly arranged for violin and piano, by J. H. KRAUTZER—an exceedingly useful and valuable work. All the above are published by WM. HALL & SON.

From Messrs. COOK Co., Broadway, we have received two pretty compositions:

The Rocket Polka.

The Golden Drop Schottisch.

CITY POLITICS.

A New Party in the Line—The Merchants and Merchants' Clerks.

A meeting of merchants and merchants' clerks of this City was held last night at Clinton Hall, to take measures to nominate an independent ticket for their support in the coming election. The meeting was organized by calling Mr. T. H. PAINTER to the Chair, and appointing Messrs. H. H. SMITH, and J. BYRNE, Secretaries.

Upon the opening of the meeting there was some speech-making, in which the merits and claims of this new party of mercantile men were set forth. The usual preliminary proceedings having been finished, a Committee of Three were appointed to draft resolutions, who reported as follows:

Whereas, The Municipal Government of this City for years past has been given over to designing politicians, and administered with the greatest corruption; and,

Whereas, We, the mercantile men of New-York, have perhaps a greater interest in securing an honest, economical, honest and judicious Government for our city than any other class of men; although heretofore we have generally kept ourselves aloof from party politics; therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Merchants and Clerks of New-York, in Convention assembled, deem it due to ourselves and the interests of the City, to give an expression of our sentiments in the coming election, and we will do so by nominating and supporting as a body a ticket of our own, composed of the best men we can select from our own ranks and the nominees presented us by other parties.

Resolved, That for the office of County Clerk to-night, we unanimously nominate DOUGLAS LEFFINGWELL, and deem it expedient to defer making the other nominations till another meeting of this Convention.

Resolved, That DOUGLAS LEFFINGWELL is known to all of us as a faithful, honest, capable man, who has been for years engaged in mercantile pursuits in this City, and who having no political aspirations or private ends, but who in these troubled times demands the voluntary effort of those who know him, will, we are confident, make an impartial and industrious officer.

Resolved, That as he is no seeker after office, not identified with any of the political organizations of the day, we the more cordially support and sincerely present his name, because we are not politicians and desire to secure the services of a competent clerk, who will discharge the duties of his office as a faithful clerk should do.

The above resolutions were adopted unanimously, after which there were several speeches made, from which we learn that this organization is about six thousand strong and daily increasing.

After the speaking was finished, the Convention adjourned to meet again at the call of the Chairman to complete nominations.

The Softs.

NOMINATING CONVENTIONS AT TAMMANY.

The Soft-Shell Convention of Delegates for the nomination of Sheriff, County Clerk and Coroners, assembled again last night at Tammany Hall. There was a large attendance of outsiders, consisting of office-holders, office-seekers and their usual following of hookers, who crowded the bar, the stairway and lobby. The time of the Delegates was occupied for a considerable portion of the night in hearing the disputed claims of the several Ward delegations. When the meeting got into harness, the friends and supporters of the respective candidates made themselves heard by the wise men who were sitting in judgment on the politics of the City. Those who are particularly anxious about such as leave this world in a sudden and mysterious manner, were loud in their cheers for Dr. O'DONNELL as Coroner. About 11 o'clock the crowd became impatient, and attempted to break in the door, which brought the proceedings to a close, when it transpired that on the informal ballot Mr. MILLER had received 54 votes, the remaining being distributed among five other candidates. The meeting then adjourned.

☞ The Tammany men met last evening, for the nomination of county members, but after a session of five hours, adjourned till to-night without doing any business.

The Germans.

GERMAN DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The German Democratic Convention met last evening at Mechanic's Hall, Hester-street. Mr. W. LETZRIER, the President, offered to resign if it were the wish of the Delegates, but was unanimously retained. In the absence of the Secretaries, Messrs. SCHWARTZ and RICHTER were chosen. Delegates were present from eighteen Wards. Considerable disorder prevailing, Mr. METTERNICH (not the Prince, but a fine specimen of a Red Republican barriadero here) was appointed Sergeant-at-arms. It having been resolved at the last meeting to reconsider the nominations already made, a new vote was taken, whereupon Dr. WILMELM was unanimously nominated for Coroner. For Governor of Alms House, Messrs. GEORGE DIECOT and C. GODFREY GUNTHER were recommended as equally eligible. A Committee was appointed to submit these names to the Soft and Hard Shell Conventions and to the Liquor-dealers' Association. The Convention then adjourned until next Friday, then to resolve upon the various nominations and to issue a call for a mass meeting of the Germans of New-York.

Sixth Senatorial District.

Hon. ERASTUS BROOKS has accepted the nomination for State Senator, tendered him by a Convention of "Independent" cititizens of the SIXTH Senatorial District. He did so in a speech before the "Independent" Committee, at Thompson's Hall, corner of Twenty-seventh street and Fourth avenue, last evening.

Young Men's National Democratic Club.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's National Democratic Club was advertised for last (Friday) night. It was adjourned, however, before formal organization, owing to the paucity of attendance, pending by a contemporaneous meeting of the Committee appointed to make arrangements for the ratification meeting which is to be held the week after next.

The Liquor-dealers.

ELECTION OF DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION.

The members of the Liquor-dealers Society met in their respective Wards last evening, and elected three delegates from each Ward to the Liquor-dealers State Convention, to be held at Syracuse on the 10th inst.

Liquor Trial in the Recorder's Court.

The arguments on the complaint against CORNMAN & SPENCER, of the Astor House, for violating the Prohibitory Liquor-Law, were to have been pronounced this morning, in the Court of Special Sessions. At the hour fixed by the Recorder, both parties appeared by counsel, but, after waiting nearly two hours, the Recorder did not come into Court, nor send any message relative to the case.

This additional delay we deeply regret, and, if unnecessarily, it is a great public wrong. The importance of the case demands a decision, and the people, as well as the accused, have a right to a speedy trial. Mr. CAPRON, counsel for the people, offered, two weeks ago, to argue the case, or to submit his arguments in writing, but the defence was not ready. This morning, the counsel on both sides agreed to submit their points in writing, to the Recorder, at his office. We shall urge his Honor to fix the earliest day for his decision, which we hope he will render at the Special Session, on Tuesday next. Our duty seems to require us to make some public explanation of this delay. In behalf of the New-York City Temperance Alliance,

C. T. WARREN, Cor. Secretary.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5, 1855.

AN APPROPRIATE AUDIENCE.—By BARNUM's invitation and Dr. CHARLTON's consent, says the Boston Courier, the female patients of the State Lunatic Asylum in Worcester attended the lady show.

NEW-YORK CITY.

American Bible Union—Second Day.

The American Bible Union continued its session yesterday. The meeting being organized, the Assistant Treasurer, C. A. BOARMAN, Esq., read the minutes of the meeting of Thursday, which were adopted.

The Corresponding Secretary, W. H. WISEMAN, Esq., proposed that the Committee on Libraries be a standing committee for the year. The Committee on Publications then presented their report.

Rev. Dr. CHILDS (Editor the New-York Chronicle) who interested in the report for many reasons.

Rev. Dr. HANSON approved of the report.

Rev. Dr. SHEPPARD was totally opposed to the report in its unamended state. It was not wise, for such as stated in the report, that the New-York Chronicle was the first to advocate the revision.

The report was adopted, with the following resolution attached:

Resolved, That the Board and officers are assured that in carrying out their measures the utmost zeal and stability are given in their operations, the Union pledges its sympathy and cooperation, and that we hereby call on our friends to aid in this new department of labor in the great enterprise of the American Bible Union.

Rev. J. B. JONES, of Norfolk, Va., read an address. Its object was to show the necessity of revision, unless the version of King JAMES was to be preferred to the original. A movement in the same direction had been made in the British Parliament, but the American Bible Union assumes the initiative in this work. The sooner an erroneous translation is corrected the better.

At 1 P. M. the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. CORANT. Adjourned until 3½ o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rev. Dr. ARMITAGE in the Chair.

After some preliminary business, Rev. C. P. SHERBOW, of Hamilton, N. Y., delivered an address on the "Unsectarian character of the Union and of its work." Its main condition was, that Sectarianism was to form the motive of those who opposed the Union, consistency because of its alleged or supposed sectarian character. He said it would be impossible to palm a Baptist Bible upon the world without exposure and shame.

Rev. ISAAC N. HEAD, of Albany, delivered an address on "The Exegetical Appropriate to the Present Occasion." The grandeur of the Bible considered as the word of the God alike of Nature and Revelation, formed the theme of the speaker.

Rev. THOMAS J. CONANT, D. D., Professor in the Rochester University, and one of the Revisers, delivered some extempore remarks. He thought the principle of the organization had taken a firm hold on the public mind—it had done what it could not undo, awakened a sense of a want which somebody must satisfy—the common people inquired and demanded a correct version, or reason for the non-existence of it. If no organization there is not a library in the United States that contains the necessary books and appliances, and money will be required freely to furnish such facilities.

Rev. Professor remarked that in this work interpretation would not be substituted for translation.

Rev. J. M. BRAY, from Virginia, concluded the afternoon session in an address of an exceedingly talented and ably argumentative character.

EVENING SESSION.

Rev. Dr. CHARLES, of Philadelphia, opened the exercises with prayer. The address of the Rev. G. W. EATON, D. D., president of the Theological department of the Madison University, formed the principal feature of the evening. He alluded to the nature of the opposition the Union had sustained. No word of cheer came from many quarters from whence it might have been expected. Cooperation with infidels and Romanists had been frantically alleged against them. Genius without learning had charged them with desecration of God's holy book, and learning without genius had been guilty of equal solecisms. Why all this? A fearful wrong exists somewhere. "for our brethren, (said he) are violating the truth and charity of the gospel we both love."

The Rev. Dr. entered into a detailed examination of the constitution of the present organization, and stated the conviction of the soundness of the principles upon which it is based. He recounted the elementary principles of the Union for the purpose of showing that when understood, they must obviously and unanswerably refute the objections that many of its dearest friends had most conscientiously but mistakenly directed against the revision of the present translation.

Previously to the delivery of Dr. EATON's address, Rev. Dr. CHARLES, (editor of the Ladies' Annual,) proposed a vote of thanks to the reporters of the corrier press, "for their faithful, liberal and generous reports of the proceedings," which were closed with the usual benediction.

Extensive Burglary in Canal-street—$8,000 Worth of Goods Disposed for Stealing.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning, as Officer ROACH, of the Eighth District, and Private Watchman GAUTIER, were standing in Mercer-street, near Canal-street, they saw two men turn the corner of Canal-street, go up Mercer-street and stop before the private entrance of that vile den known as the "Bulls," on the corner of Howard and Mercer streets. Under the impression that all was not right, the officers entered the hall door of the public house mentioned to the roof, where they found about $8,000 worth of silk and lace goods, tied up ready for removal. They also discovered that the sentinels of the store of Messrs. ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & Co., No. 69 Canal-street, was open.

Mr. BAKER, one of the proprietors of the store, was sent for, when he identified the goods as belonging to his firm. Capt. TOMPKINS, who at this time passing to the Station-House, when he met a man who gave the name of TAWSON, who was then about entering the place where the goods were found. He immediately arrested him, and took him to the store, when Mr. BAKER immediately recognized him as a man formerly employed in the store. He was once arrested by order of Mr. BAKER, on suspicion of embezzlement. The same man was also in the employ of USHERLL, PEIRSON & LANE, at the time when their store was entered by burglars.

It is strongly suspected that he knows something about the burglary committed some time since on the corner of Broadway and Waverley-place, about twelve months since. TAWSON was seen on the previous day about the docks, and was then suspected of evil intent, and was packed off by the police. He has been seen lurking around this store for some few evenings.

He was yesterday shown up at the office of the Chief of Police, and afterwards taken before Justice CARDOZO, and by him committed for examination. The two other men will likely be arrested within a day or two, as they are well known to the police. Meantime he is detained at the Station-house until further development shall be had.

The Lane Shooting Case in Thirty-seventh street.

Our readers will remember the circumstance of the arrest of JAMES DUFFY, charged with shooting H. J. CALLE, through a window, as the latter was engaged at work in Childs' distillery. On a preliminary examination accused had to be released from custody for want of sufficient evidence for a conviction, but he was yesterday rearrested through the finesse of Justice DAVISON, who discharged him under the surveillance of the Police and got the start of him by sending to his residence a search warrant to procure any evidence of his guilt.

The consequence of this was, that when DUFFY arrived at home the Police were, unknown to him, on his heels. He at once proceeded to destroy the only existing proofs of his guilt, when he was immediately retaken into custody and the premises searched, whereupon there was found a portion of an old soiled book, the front and last leaves having been torn off. Having the remains of the paper used for a wad on the occasion of the firing, in his pockets, the officers compared it with the book, and found it to be the leaf exactly coming before those left of the same book. This point gained, DUFFY was again taken before Justice DAVISON, who held him for examination.

Stabbing Affray.

A quarrel rose of the name of JOHN SHERARD, was yesterday severely stabbed as he walked along Oliver-street, as is alleged, by one JOHN BROWN, also a seaman. It is understood that a difficulty arose between the men on account of SHERARD's having left the boarding-house where he had previously lodged. No one was present at the time of the occurrence, and immediately on the perpetration of the deed BROWN walked off, and has not since been heard of. The injured man was conveyed to the New-York Hospital by the Fourth Ward Police.

Seduction and Revenge.

JAMES BROWN, a middle-aged man, of No. 601 Sixth-street, was arrested on Thursday evening by Sergeant MANSFIELD and Officer LANE of the Third District Police Court, charged with enticing under promise of marriage, JANE GARRETSON, a servant employed at No. 51 St. Mark's-place. The 15th ultimo was determined upon as the day for the wedding, but that day passed and he had deserted her for another resident of Sixth-street, whom he had wooed and won, and whom he intended to marry. He was yesterday arraigned by Justice WELSH, under bonds of $500 to appear and answer.

The Meeting at the Metropolitan.—The grand Choral Meeting to be held this evening at the Metropolitan Theatre will be one of interest. The programme and selections have been well devised to excite in raising a great subscription fund, and all efficient means will be adopted for securing the immediate aid of the masses in behalf of the hundreds of orphans created by the unexampled ravages of the yellow fever in the cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth. The matter is one worthy of attempt and hearty encouragement, and we hope our citizens will respond warmly to the call upon their sympathies and benevolence.

Religious.

Prof. M. J. SEXTRE, of New-York College, will preach in Grace Presbyterian Church, (corner Dr. Cummings,) to-morrow evening, at 7½ o'clock.

St. Ann's Church for Deaf Mutes.

A discourse, appropriate to the 42nd anniversary of this Parish, will be delivered by the Rector, to-morrow forenoon, in the small Chapel of the University, near Washington square. In the evening of the same day, an appeal will be made in behalf of the Church of St. George's Church, Stuyvesant square, for collections taken for the Building Fund.

Manners of Shore Fashionables.

It was pretty generally remarked yesterday about the City Hall, that the Grand Jury room had been used and indeed one of the City magistrates appropriated it to some few purposes, for official entertainment. Should this statement of the facts be correct, we shall call attention to the matter, and trust that no such occurrence will be allowed hereafter, as there is no certainty that such is the case, and such an appropriation is made, which will undoubtedly be the Mayor's duty next.

Absorbed Bibles.

JEREMIAH DURYEE, a peddler, was arrested yesterday on charge of stealing $30 (81 cents) of the $5 Bibles of the Bible House, from a wagon in front of the Hamburg City Bank, on Chambers Street, in charge of 40 Chrystie-street.

LONG ISLAND.

An Elopement.

On Thursday evening a young Miss of fifteen Summers, residing in Henry-street, Brooklyn, who is described to be not only good-looking, but possessing in her own right a large amount of property, located in the State of Virginia, suddenly disappeared. From the absence of a proud grocer's clerk in the same vicinity at the same time, taken in connection with some strange stones that had previously transpired, it was very readily surmised that the two had eloped with her lover, and few are the precisely united in the holy bands of wedlock. The father of the young Miss is inconsolable.

Honor to Lieut. Maury.

From the National Intelligencer.

We learn that the Russian Minister yesterday waited on Lieutenant MAURY, of the National Observatory, to deliver, by command of his Government, an autograph letter from the Grand Duke CONSTANTINE, who, it will be remembered, is the Commander-in-Chief of the Russian Navy. This letter is written in French; but, under the belief that many of our readers will desire an exact account of the present as we have given one of the letter of the Emperor of Austria, we give publicly a translation of it:

ST. PETERSBURG, Monday, Dec. 10, (22,) 1854.

TO LIEUTENANT MAURY, &c.—It is now a long time since the eminent scientific works of which you are the author have attracted the attention of the savans of every nation, and especially of those of Russia, and I have expressed my desire to see you. Again the imperial palaces of St. Petersburg and Moscow have rendered me a complete report of the observations you have taken the most lively interest. Allow me, Sir, to present you with a testimonial of my satisfaction, knowing the services of your country, which will permit you to occupy anything from the sciences. I beg you to receive yourself to the expression of my sentiments. They are as exalted as your own merit; and in my critical capacity, I may say to you that you do honor to the profession to which you belong. I am happy to be the organ of the sentiments which you never can cease to entertain.

I remain, Sir, the sincerest of your admirers,

CONSTANTINE.

This is a high but deserved compliment to Lieutenant MAURY, who, we find, commenced his career as a naval officer, when we find, commenced his career as a naval officer, when we find, commenced his career as a naval officer, when

The rooms were handsomely decorated for the occasion. The members of the Navy-Yard Band discoursed excellent music, and a good supper was served. The rooms were crowded by the officers of the Navy-Yard, and by citizens of Brooklyn. It is to supply their vacancies that the changes mentioned above are made.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Dutch Guard Dues—The Position of the Administration on the Question—Sketch of the Diplomacy on the Subject.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Oct. 4, 1855.

Your telegraphic correspondent from this place has opened a battery upon the Danish Guard Dues question, which cannot fail to attract the attention of the commercial world. The question is one of great importance, and has been for years a subject of diplomatic discussion between the United States and Denmark. The latter claims the right to levy a duty upon all vessels passing the Sound, and has established a guard-ship at the entrance of the Baltic, for the purpose of collecting the dues. The United States has always denied the right of Denmark to levy such duties, and has refused to pay them. The question has been frequently discussed between the two governments, and has been referred to the Emperor of Russia for arbitration, but has never been settled. The Danish Government has always refused to submit the question to any other arbitration than that of the Emperor of Russia, and the United States has refused to submit it to him. The question has been pending for years, and has been frequently discussed in Congress. Mr. Secretary Marcy has given the subject his attention, and has had correspondence with the Danish Government upon it. The position of the Administration is, that the Danish claim is unjust, and that the United States will not pay the dues. The Administration has not yet taken any steps to enforce its views, but will probably do so at the next session of Congress. The Danish Government has been informed of the position of the Administration, and has been requested to submit the question to arbitration. The Administration will probably recommend to Congress to authorize the President to appoint a Commissioner to proceed to Copenhagen, and there confer with the Danish Government upon the subject, and, if possible, arrange a treaty of commerce, which will settle the question. The Administration is willing to submit the question to the Emperor of Russia, or to any other arbitration that may be agreed upon, but will not pay the dues.
